

Social Intelligence Workshop

Develop your interpersonal effectiveness using the WholeBrain Creativity Assessment (NBI©)

½ Day & 1 Day Workshops for Individuals, Leaders & Teams

Recent advances in psychology and neuroscience research are resulting in powerful insights into our patterns of thinking and the impact these patterns have on interpersonal effectiveness. C Global Consulting's workshop on increasing your Social Intelligence using the Neethling Brain Instrument© provides individuals, leaders and teams with a potent tool for understanding and adapting to interpersonal style differences. Whether your goal is to improve leadership effectiveness, enhance customer service or maximize team performance, the WholeBrain Creativity Assessment (NBI©) can help you achieve your goals.

During the workshop, you will receive an individual assessment profile that will provide you with insights into increasing your social intelligence. Specifically your profile will help you understand which sets of thinking preferences you prefer to use most in comparison to others. While each of us has the ability to make use of all aspects of our brains, we often develop tendencies to use some more than others. During this participatory workshop you will:

- Gain a new way of understanding how your brain functions.
- Receive a personal profile that helps you understand your thinking preference strengths & growth areas.
- Understand how your personal thinking preferences influence a variety of interpersonal phenomena such as conflict, communication, influence and decision-making.
- Develop strategies for using your new insights to be more effective in your most important relationships.
